Commercial Interior Designers deserve legal recognition in Oregon to acknowledge, protect, and enhance their role in the state. Recognizing this profession will ensure public safety, consumer protection, and, most importantly, expand economic opportunities for women, small business owners, and independent practitioners.

My mom has been an interior designer for about 35 years and has owned her own business. My sister is also an interior designer. They, like many others, deserve recognition for their hard work and the opportunity to expand their economic reach.

I fully support the passing of House Bill 2141-1.
