

Submitter: Kevin Tippett
On Behalf Of:
Committee: House Committee On Climate, Energy, and Environment
Measure, Appointment or HB2961
Topic:

We definitely need to address overall electricity generation and distribution, and this is a positive step. I strongly suggest that burying power lines ill enhance and preserve the investment. Aesthetically: who likes seeing power lines? In Western Oregon especially, ice storms and tree fall can't as easily break a buried power line. When The Big One hits it will very likely disrupt everything regardless of above or below ground.