

“I never got better from being swept. Nobody ever could tell me where to go, just get out of here. So I go a few blocks away and get told the same thing. So I go to a park where no houses are right there and the park police come so I find a parking lot and the security guards come. I don’t want to hurt anybody. I don’t steal. I just don’t have a home and am doing the best I can.”
