

Strongly oppose. Whose idea was this anyway? The thought of having a homeowner held financially responsible for their hired contractor failing to pay their employees is absurd. How about if the sponsors of this legislation take their vehicle to a repair shop and be held liable for the shop owner's failure to adequately pay his mechanics. Iu·di·crous: amusing or laughable through obvious absurdity, incongruity, exaggeration, or eccentricity. It's about time legislators in this state started looking in a mirror instead of forcing its residents to pay for the failed tax dollar management of its agencies.
